Dear Naghul Adhithya,

The Board of Admission has completed its evaluation of over 5,000 applications to the Class of 2030, and it is with great regret that we inform you that we are unable to offer you a place in the incoming class at Brown University.

We want to acknowledge the time and attention that you devoted to your application, and that we were thoroughly impressed by the student and person we got to know through your own words and the praise of those around you. Your accomplishments in and out of the classroom are undoubtedly an indicator of the great work you will do as you continue your academic journey.

Please know that our decision is not a reflection of the potential represented in your application, but is indicative of the selectivity of Brown's admission process. We wish we had more space to extend offers to the inspiring group we met in this year's applicant pool, and hope you will come away from the college process confident in your qualifications.

Though we are very aware that this is not the outcome you hoped for, please know that your application was fully and carefully considered. We encourage you to celebrate all you have achieved and take pride in the talent and tenacity we know you will bring to the next steps in your education. We wish you the best as you continue to pursue your college plans.

On behalf of the Board of Admission, I want to thank you for taking the time to prepare your application, and for your interest in Brown.

Sincerely,
